SEE “TOJO” AN EXPERIENCE OF A LIFETIME WATCH A LEGEND WITH A TRUE JOY IN MAKING PEOPLE LAUGH AND HAVE FUN

This guy, “Tojo” has defied logic playing show basketball for 40 years. How does he do it, how long can he keep the magic going? He started his career in the early 1960’s and he still generates amazing enthusiasm.

It is a phenomenal thing, to watch “Tojo” weave his magic during the show. Wizard President Todd Davis said “He brings the whole crowd into the show, he wants to see everybody partying and having a great time at the game. He’s a true throwback entertainer, who brings a high standard of joy & energy to every performance”.

“Tojo” started his basketball barnstorming at 17 years old. After starring at Passaic HS, he took off on the road, to play with another team, the Harlem Diplomats. Later on he was discovered by the Wizards. He started off as a straight man, who made his presence felt with basketball skill, including his power forward game, that was all about running the floor, playing defense and grabbing most of the rebounds. He played it straight, feeding straight lines to the Wizard comic. One day there was an opportunity for a replacement to step in, and Tojo, the serious straight man with the booming voice, was a logical choice.

Years later “Tojo” has many fans worldwide. His secret is loving what he does, and appreciating the fans to the max. He has a knack for picking out the child who needs a lift, and putting them into the performance. “Tojo” is a gem in the world of sports.

He earned a purple heart and medal of valor in his tour of duty in Vietnam. His wonderful heart and spirit, as well as his baritone voice and commanding presence, make him one of the greatest all time performers in Show Basketball history.
